About The Residence

The QCEC refurbishment was a challenging project for a number of different reasons. Firstly, being a heritage listed building there were a number of constraints. No damaging of existing walls while sealing and restoring them. Heavily bowed heritage floors were re-used which meant all joinery heights were to be adjustable, custom doors, and floor levelling solutions required. Delicate handling with fragile float glass to external faces to protect and re-joint

Sitting on Level 3/143 Edward Street with no ability for craneage, an old school approach of manual handling was undertaken for the project dedicating high levels of labour to finish within contract duration.

Canon Corporate

The project involved the construction of a new building comprising of a warehouse plus office space with parking for 42 vehicles.
